President's Welcome

Elevate! That is the theme of this year's annual meeting, and for good reason. Elevate your knowledge base, elevate your case preparation, elevate your practice, elevate your professional relationships and elevate your personal and professional happiness!

Staying current and competitive in your practice is the key to your future or continued success. This meeting offers a comprehensive program with 8.25 hours of CLE credit on interesting topics of significance to your practice. Do not miss out and be sure to attend this year's meeting at the historic Westin St. Francis on Union Square in San Francisco.

The meeting starts with a bang (of the gavel!). The presiding judges of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties will give a State of the Courts address that will let ADC members know what is going on with funding, filings and trial dates in the court system. Tired of reading advance sheets? Maybe you have been lax about even doing that! Don't worry – we have compressed key civil opinions from the appellate court by topical area in the popular Year in Review. The work is all done for you. Just listen and catch up!

Experts – we all must deal with experts and there are new things you need to know. For years, courts have allowed experts to rely on hearsay from records and other sources in forming their opinions. Under Sanchez, it is a whole new ball game. Come learn how to work around Sanchez to avoid disaster in your case and impose disaster on your opponent's case!

Of course, no current and useful seminar would be complete without a program on the Reptile theory. There are experienced judges and attorneys who have never heard of the theory, and you do not want to be one of them. Come learn the latest from national experts on how to understand and combat an opponent who engages in Reptile tactics from the beginning of the case through trial so you can avoid a monstrous verdict. You could be getting "reptiled" and not even know it!

We all need some fun in the course of learning about trial tactics and technology, right? Maybe even a blast from the past? This year's meeting features a presentation on the trial of Michael Skidmore v. Led Zeppelin, et al., the highly publicized copyright infringement case involving the Led Zeppelin song "Stairway to Heaven." Defense counsel will discuss how testimony from Jimmy Page and Robert Plant together with trial technology and a blistering cross-examination of the plaintiff's witnesses carried the day for the rock icons.

Motivate yourself, motivate your firm and be the best you can be. Anne Brafford, lawyer, organizational psychologist, consultant and author of The Path to Lawyer Well-Being: Practice Recommendations for Positive Change will provide a program on lawyer thriving, positive leadership, resilience, work engagement, meaningful work, motivation and lawyer retention.

Our keynote speaker this year is Dan Ventrelle, Executive Vice President & General Counsel of the Oakland Raiders. Despite being born in Chicago, the home of the Bears, Dan was captivated by the Oakland Raiders from an early age. He cold called the Raiders before graduating from law school and found himself in the top legal position for the team a few years later. Dan will talk about his experience in business and legal operations for an NFL franchise.

In addition to the above offerings, there will be world class seminars covering employment law, mediation, writ petitions, construction and elimination of bias.

John P. Cotter
2018 ADC President

Don't miss out! I look forward to seeing you at the St. Francis!

11:15 am – 12:15 pm

Sanchez, Experts and Hearsay: Tricks and Traps

(MCLE – 1.0 hour General credit)

Grand Ballroom

What you don't know about Sanchez could gut your expert witness's testimony and destroy your case. What you do know about Sanchez can help you avoid that result, and maybe help you impose it on your opponent. What are the two kinds of expert-related hearsay? How, and why, are they treated differently? How can counsel work around the new Sanchez restrictions?

Sanchez is a criminal decision, but is being applied in civil cases as well. If you use or confront expert witnesses, you miss this seminar at your peril.

1:30 pm – 2:45 pm

Reptile Workshop:

Taming the Reptile in Pretrial Proceedings and at Trial (Part 1)

(MCLE – 1.25 hours General credit)

California West Room

The Reptile has slithered its way into the courtroom in virtually every type of civil case, from medical malpractice and other professional negligence matters, to commercial trucking, retail and hospitality and product liability – taking credit for billions of dollars in jury verdicts across the country by manipulating themes of community and danger. Nationally-recognized Reptile experts Bill Kanasky, Jr., Ph.D. and Alyssa Parker, Ph.D. of Courtroom Sciences, Inc. will team with skilled claims professionals, defense and appellate counsel to lead a multi-part workshop that takes a deeper dive into recognizing and combating Reptile tactics during deposition, jury selection, witness examination, opening statement and closing argument. This session will focus on understanding and identifying the Reptile strategies, preparing witnesses for deposition, preventing expert witnesses from being drawn into tactics and planning for combat during trial.

Puttin' on the Writs – Putting Your Best Foot Forward to a Successful Writ Petition (“Spending every dime for a wonderful time”)

(MCLE 1.25 hour General credit)

California East Room

If you have ever felt the crushing blow of having your writ petition summarily denied by the Court of Appeal, you are likely in good company. While there are certainly many factors that go into whether to petition the court for interlocutory review, knowing how to present your case to maximize your chance of review is an art form. Presiding Justice Ignazio Ruvolo, recently retired after 21 years from the First District Court of Appeal and now with JAMS, and Susan Horst, Esq., a writ attorney for the First District Court of Appeal for 31 years before joining California Appellate Law Group, together bring more than a half century of writ experience to this dynamic presentation moderated by Crystal L. Van Der Putten of Livingston Law Firm. Both now devote professional time to consulting on writ petitions in the appellate courts, as well as trial court work in anticipation of writ relief. You will not want to miss this opportunity to learn how best to present a writ for success.

A Mediator's View of Mediation – What Works & What Doesn't

(MCLE – 1.0 hour General credit)

California East Room

Learn effective strategies and common pitfalls of mediation from a panel of two experienced mediators and a defense attorney. Hear about the tragedies, triumphs, and missteps observed by those in the trenches of civil conflict resolution. Topics will include case selection, brief preparation, client interaction and education, mediation strategy, and critical next steps after a mediation. There will be a slight emphasis on medical professional liability cases, but this seminar is a must for any attorney or insurance claims personnel involved in the mediation of personal injury cases.

Legislative Update

(MCLE – .5 hour General credit)

Colonial Room

In addition to providing great education, your ADC membership gives you and your clients a voice in government. Other than the plaintiff personal injury bar, the only other attorney group that has a voice in Sacramento is the ADC. Among other things, the ADC provides input into proposed Code of Civil Procedure changes as well as jury instructions. California Defense Counsel Legislative Advocate, Mike Belote, will present an interesting review of legislation impacting defense practice in California. Mike will bring you up-to-date on what has happened over the past year and what may surprise us in 2019.

Is There a Bustle in Your Hedgerow?

Michael Skidmore vs. Led Zeppelin, et al.

(MCLE – 1.25 hour General credit)

Colonial Room

The jury giveth and the 9th Circuit taketh away...

Such is the current state of the Led Zeppelin copyright infringement case, and the case is thus headed for retrial. Given this recent development, our featured speaker, Los Angeles attorney Peter J. Anderson will shift his presentation away from the Led Zeppelin trial. However, you should still be prepared to be entertained and educated by Mr. Anderson, as he has defended numerous high profile entertainers in cases involving allegations of music copyright infringement. Mr. Anderson will talk about his defense of singers and entertainers such as Gwen Stefani and Pharell Williams where they were accused of infringing upon copyrights involving both music and lyrics. Of local interest, Mr. Anderson will discuss a case involving the band Green Day who made their start in the East Bay. This case involved a video backdrop used in concert performances. Mr. Anderson will explain the basics of music copyright cases and approaches to defending them so that laypeople without music experience can understand them, including use of audio and video recordings of the music in question.

Resilient Thinking to Achieve Peak Performance

Colonial Room

Anne Brafford
Aspire

Our ability to meet our job challenges is influenced more by our subjective interpretation of reality than people often realize. While stress can be corrosive when we chronically perceive our situation as more than we can handle, fostering resilient thinking can fuel optimal performance and greater well-being. Resilient thinking includes skills and competencies that help us perform our best during challenging situations, bounce back from stress, and grow from setbacks. Fortunately, these positive mental habits can be developed by learning key skills, some of which will be discussed and demonstrated with audience participation in this entertaining program.

After practicing law for 18 years, Anne left her job as an equity partner at Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP to study with world-class experts in organizational thriving and to found Aspire, an educational and consulting firm for the legal profession (www.aspire.legal). Anne is the Chairperson of the ABA Law Practice Division's Attorney Well-Being Committee and is a member of multiple other national and local-level attorney well-being initiatives. She served as the Editor-in-Chief and co-author of the National Task Force on Lawyer Well-Being's 2017 Report, The Path to Lawyer Well-Being: Practice Recommendations for Positive Change. Anne also is the author of a new ABA-published book called Positive Professionals: Creating High-Performing, Profitable Firms Through the Science of Engagement. Anne earned a Master's degree in Applied Positive Psychology (MAPP) from the University of Pennsylvania and is a PhD candidate in Positive Organizational Psychology at Claremont Graduate University (CGU) in Southern California. She researches topics related to lawyer thriving, including positive leadership, resilience, work engagement, meaningful work, motivation, and retention of women lawyers. Anne is a Teaching Assistant in the MAPP program for Dr. Martin Seligman and, for two years, served in that same role at CGU for Dr. Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi – the co-founders of Positive Psychology.

Annual Luncheon with Keynote Speaker Dan Ventrelle, Executive Vice President and General Counsel of the Oakland Raiders

Grand Ballroom

Dan Ventrelle
Oakland Raiders

Despite growing up in Chicago, home of the Bears, and going to law school at the University of Michigan when Tom Brady was playing quarterback, Dan Ventrelle was captivated by the Oakland Raiders from an early age. Little did he know, years later he would become the team's General Counsel.

"As a kid, I always loved the Raiders. I followed the team closely, traveled to games, and even wore a Raiders jacket to high school every day," says Ventrelle, Executive Vice President and General Counsel of the Oakland Raiders.

Ventrelle cold-called the Oakland Raiders as his graduation from law school approached and while he did not get the job then, he went to work for a firm that did legal work for the Raiders. A few years later, Ventrelle found himself in the enviable position of getting a spot in the Raiders legal department – a position he was told would never become available.

After 14 years, he finds himself not only overseeing the legal department of the Oakland Raiders, but also a key player on the personnel front and a primary driver of the team's efforts to build a new stadium."

"On the business side, I structure deals for our stadium project and oversee the legal and human resources departments. On the football side, my responsibilities include negotiating both players' and coaches' contracts, working closely with our head coach, general manager, and director of football administration," says Ventrelle.
